SICO® Unveils New Tables Designed for School Foodservice “D” Shape Associate Tables provide ideal fit for K-12 cafeterias

Minneapolis, MN, September 2015—SICO® America has introduced a new portfolio of mobile Associate Table shapes and sizes designed specifically for school cafeterias. SICO’s lineup is spearheaded by its new “D” Shape table, which features a flat side that can be set against a wall to create a popular booth-style effect.

In addition to 4-foot or 6-foot lengths, school foodservice directors can choose from a variety of mobile Associate Table styles – including the “D” Shape, rectangle and rounded rectangle selections – plus stool or bench seats, durable tops and laminate options, and more.

“We designed our new Associate Tables to match the needs of today’s school foodservice environments,” said Dan Reisetter, SICO Education Sales Manager – The Americas. “Whether schools need a different solution to their space constraints or just want to add a stylish new look, they’ll find what they need within our new lineup.”

In managing today’s school cafeteria setups, operators have identified the need for greater flexibility. SICO’s new “D” Shape table offers unique versatility and conveniences that cafeteria managers will value. While providing students with the closeness and connectivity of a booth, its open design creates greater seating flexibility and makes it much easier to clean than a traditional booth. In addition, it offers smooth in-out access from all sides, with no bars to get in the way and no need to step over seating. “And,” adds Reisetter, “like all of our Associate Tables, it has two 4-inch casters for easy rolling and storage.”

School foodservice professionals are invited to explore the full lineup of new SICO Associate Tables online at sicoinc.com or by calling 1-800-328-6138 and consulting SICO experts on which solutions provide the best fit for their environments.
